

Peter O'BRIEN

7. (Amended) The device according to claim 2 wherein the heat reflective powder or particulate is one or a combination of two or more material (selected from titanium dioxide, zirconium and zinc oxide).

improved mark sh?

8. (Amended) The device according to claim 2 wherein the powder or particulate is between 10 to 50% of the mixture.

9. (Amended) The device according to claim 3 wherein the powder or particulate is of paint grade particle size.

10. (Amended) The device according to claim 2 wherein the thickening agent is between 30 to 90% of the mixture.

11. (Amended) The device according to claim 1 wherein the thickening agent is one or a combination of two or more materials selected from bentonite, attapulite and celluloses.

13. (Amended) The device according to claim 1 wherein the device is formed to be generally in the shape of a foot and the sac extending from about the heel region to about the toe or ball region of the foot.

16. (Amended) The device according to claim 13 wherein the device is reversible so that either surface of the first and second layers can be used.

A<sup>3</sup>
17. (Amended) The device according to claim 13 wherein the layers are sealingly joined around the edges thereof by adhesive, fusion, welding or any other known technique<sup>112</sup>.

A<sup>4</sup>
19. (Amended) The device according to claim 17 wherein the sac is also formed during joining of the edges and the sac extending to about the ball region.

A<sup>5</sup>
21. (Amended) The device according to claim 1 wherein the device is a sole or a removable inner sole for the footwear.--